

Overview

Course Objective

The Intermediate Engineering Training course was developed to provide practical training for roof truss designers with a number of years experience, seeking to reinforce and broaden their knowledge.

The course builds upon knowledge provided by the Preliminary Engineering Training course by adding further detail and introducing practical examples to apply this knowledge.

Held at our head office in Aldershot, the course runs for two days.